DETAILED ACTION

The amendment filed January 26, 2004 and the remarks presented therewith have been carefully considered and are deemed to be persuasive in overcoming the rejections as set forth in the first Office action. A new non-final Office action based on applicant's amendment is presented below.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

- (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.
- (e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.
- 2. Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Takanabe et al..

The patent to Takanabe et al. shows an embodiment of a wafer processing assembly in Figure 1 comprising a load lock chamber (400A), a transfer chamber (300), a reaction chamber (100A,200A), and a transfer arm (3) capable of transferring wafers between the load lock chamber, the transfer chamber, and the bottom half (200A) of the reaction chamber. It is pointed out that an upper portion of the reaction chamber extends directly above the transfer chamber. Further, the upper half (100A) of the reaction chamber is formed of quartz.

3. Claims 1 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Hiroki.

Hiroki shows a wafer processing system comprising a load lock chamber (14), a transfer chamber (13), a reaction chamber (12) having an upper portion disposed higher than or "above" the other chambers (see Fig. 2), and a wafer transfer arm (18).

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Muka shows a transfer arm that can transfer wafers to both upper and lower reaction chambers (see Fig. 3).
